The Beauty of Nature
by Shaylee Boehm

Trees
Towering and treasured,
Fruitful and abundant.
Sunshine seeps through the branches of the tall wonder,
Soaking in the rays, dancing in the wind.
The rustling of leaves sing soft songs of peace and praise.

Flowers
Blossoming and beautiful,
Loud and vibrant.
Fragrance as sweet as summertime,
Spreading joy across the green grass
As each sways with the music of the trees.

Skies
Vast and radiant,
Ever-changing and wondrous.
Coming together as one:
The sun, the moon, the clouds and stars,
All painted against a sky of light or dark.

Nature
Lively and enchanting,
Overwhelming yet welcoming.
Each part of nature rejoices with my presence.
I learn to dance along with the beat of the sun’s rays,
The song of the trees, and the motion of the skies above me.
